ANNUAL REPORT

2023-24, 2024-25

“Like tiny seeds with potent power to push through tough ground and become mighty trees, we hold innate reserves of unimaginable strength.
We are resilient.”

PRESIDENT FOREWORD

It is with great pride and gratitude that I present the Annual Report of Anitya Welfare Society. Over the past two year, we have remained steadfast in our commitment to empowering individuals, transforming communities, and fostering sustainable development.

Our skill development initiatives have successfully trained more than 1,500 candidates across various sectors, equipping them with the knowledge and confidence to build a better future. Through our women empowerment programs, we have encouraged self-reliance and provided opportunities for financial independence. Additionally, with our free coaching for competitive exams, in collaboration with ACI Coaching, we have supported 100 aspiring candidates in achieving their academic and professional dreams.

Environmental sustainability remains a key focus of our mission. Our forest redevelopment efforts have led to significant tree plantation drives, contributing to a greener and healthier ecosystem. Recognizing the importance of sustainable agriculture, we have launched "KHETI", an initiative that educates and encourages local farmers (Kisans) to adopt low-pesticide and innovative farming techniques for better yields and a healthier environment.

Employment generation has been a cornerstone of our efforts. With the support of JOB ALERT M.P, an initiative of Anitya Welfare Society, and our open campus placements, we have successfully placed over 800 trained candidates into meaningful employment, strengthening livelihoods and economic stability.

As we look ahead, we remain committed to expanding our impact, fostering self-sufficiency, and creating opportunities for all. I extend my heartfelt appreciation to our dedicated team, volunteers, partners, and supporters who have been instrumental in driving our mission forward.

Together, we will continue to make a lasting difference.

A Volunteer's Awareness Session on Personal Safety Education

A. PROGRAMmEs

1. PERsOnAl SAFETy EDuCATION

Personal Safety Education (PSE) Programme is a comprehensive life-skill education programme that approaches Child Sexual Abuse with a preventive and healing lens. It is conducted in schools and community set-ups with children from Grade 1 to 10 to provide them with knowledge and skills to prevent Child Sexual Abuse and to seek support if an incident occurs. Arpan also works with adult caregivers to help create a safe environment for children. Over the years, the programme has been successful in preventing and enabling child survivors of sexual abuse to seek the necessary psychotherapeutic support and in healing the negative consequences of the abuse.

However, this year when the pandemic hit us, the challenge in front of us was to reach out to children as schools were shut. We were concerned and wanted to ensure that the pandemic does not become one more reason to increase the silent pandemic of Child Sexual Abuse. What came to our advantage was the long-standing relationships that we have been able to build with our external stakeholders and school partners. The seed of trust that has been sown years back yielded fruits during this difficult time as schools opened their online doors for us to connect with children and adults. We have also embarked on building our digital content on Personal Safety three years ago knowing that digital is the future. We didn't know it will be the present and one of the handy resources that will help us master this situation.

While both of these factors gave us the first leap, this was just the starting point of a long and fruitful journey. We soon realized that almost 50% of children would not be able to access the online classes, either because they do not have access to a device or have a lack of data bandwidth or have migrated back to their native villages and lost contact with the school.

We started exploring diverse avenues to reach out to children with the aim that not a single child is left behind. We tried calling up parents, relatives, friends, neighbours wherever required to get in touch with the child. Children themselves were our biggest resource as they helped us connect with their friends and friends of friends. We even ended up tracing a child who went back to Nepal. We tried different digital platforms based on children's needs and even conducted telephonic sessions after we had shared resources through WhatsApp.

While we ensured that no pathways to reach children were left out, we had another puzzle to solve. This was to adapt our offline and online curriculum to suit children's present need and delivery mechanism. We needed to ensure that we do not lose on connecting with children, creating a safe space for them and continue to encourage them to ask questions and share their inhibitions. To do so we improvised our curriculum including grounding exercise, visual aids, infographics, presentations that helped them feel grounded, connect to the personal safety messages and internalize them.

To create a strong support system we had to also connect with parents, teachers and service staff by conducting online awareness sessions. In this case, as well we needed to adapt our content to address adults' safety concerns and anxiety around the present situation and help them understand Child Sexual Abuse in the context of the pandemic. Our focus was to help them to invest in their own self-care and empower them to keep children safe.

A Parents' Awareness Session on Personal Safety Education

Resource Development

Resource development is an integral part of all programmes at Anitya Welfare Society. As mentioned earlier in this report, the timely adaption of our curriculum and rapid iteration has been a critical factor in pivoting the programme online. Additionally, we also published the story based Personal Safety Education Training Kit for Grades 1 – 10. The Personal Safety Education Training Kit is a culmination of our years of understanding and experience of working with children and adults on personal safety. It is a feature-rich set of tools and instructional guides to help the facilitators teach Personal Safety skills to children. We also published a book titled 'Answers to Questions You Cannot Ask Otherwise' for adolescents in Hindi and English. The book focuses on frequently asked questions on relationships, puberty, sexual abuse, internet safety and seeking help.

TRAINING AND ADVOCACY PROGRAMME

Anitya Welfare Society builds professional capacities through training to replicate and scale model of prevention and intervention and advocating for robust child protection mechanisms to address the gaps both at the policy level as well as curriculum and interventions on the ground. We focus on training and building capacities of NGO professionals, school teachers, institutional staff, health and mental health professionals and government duty bearers.

As with the other programmes, for training and advocacy, this was a year of considerable change. We began the year thinking that we will be back on the ground, travelling and conducting training sessions with our partners across the country. But within a few weeks of the pandemic, we realised that we needed to learn and adapt ourselves to the new normal and pivot the programme online.

For us to pivot the awareness sessions online we invested in creating customized online awareness session modules for different stakeholders according to their time commitment and requirement. We also needed to pivot our training modules towards replication of prevention and intervention models online. Earlier we had training curriculums spanning over two, three and five days for Training of Trainers to conduct Personal Safety Education programme. We soon realized that these module spanning over days could not be executed on an online platform. We needed to create a shorter version and still ensure that we are being able to equip the participants with key skills and knowledge to replicate the programme. We experimented with different methodologies and brought in a whole mix of case studies, debates, trigger questions, and audio-visual aids which will give the participants a sense of actually being in the field and working with children and adults.

We also designed and consolidated online training on Basic and Advanced Counselling to enable organizations and mental health professionals to work on trauma and cases of Child Sexual Abuse. The training entailed a step by step understanding of trauma, therapeutic intervention methods of handling acute and complex trauma cases. We also initiated a series of online training sessions, titled

Training and Capacity Building Session under the Skill Development Program

‘Training of Trainers’ Under Environment and Sustainable Agriculture Program

Anitya Welfare Society offers a Training of Trainers (ToT) program under its Environment and Sustainable Agriculture initiative. This program aims to equip trainers with in-depth knowledge and practical skills in eco-friendly farming techniques, resource conservation, and sustainable agricultural practices.

Through expert-led sessions, hands-on training, and community engagement, participants learn how to effectively transfer knowledge to farmers and agricultural workers. The program emphasizes organic farming, water conservation, biodiversity protection, and climate-smart agricultural methods.

By empowering trainers, Anitya Welfare Society ensures a wider impact, promoting sustainability and environmental responsibility in agriculture.
